

Being a column in which the publisher just "blows off the steam."

By Willard Jones

MRS. O. G. HARVEY, former resident of Hamlin, who has been living at Anahuac on the Texas Gulf Coast for several years, declares that her family thoroughly enjoys the weekly visits of Your Home Town Paper to their home.

In sending in her renewal for their subscription to The Herald, Mrs. Harvey says, "Please accept my delayed check for our much appreciated Hamlin Herald. We read it from back to front and from top to bottom."

CHARLES DIDWAY writes an interesting column in The Post Dispatch. We lift the item below from a recent issue:

Being a parent ourselves, we are happy to pass on to others in the same boat the following "Ten Commandments for Parents," Sam Levenson's home remedies for juvenile delinquency:

1. Thou shalt guard thy children in the home and on the street.
2. Thou shalt make thy home a sanctuary of love and devotion.
3. Thou shalt honor the teachers of thy children and teach thy children to honor them.
4. Thou shalt not condone the faults of thy children through a misguided sense of loyalty.
5. Thou shalt teach thy children respect for the law and keep them from the companionship of children who indicate disrespect for the law.
6. Thou shalt not lead thy child into temptation by providing him with the means thereof, to-wit: Too much money, a car and adult privileges.
7. Thou shalt enforce decency in the dress of thy daughters and dignity in the dress of thy sons.
8. Thou shalt protect the morals of thy children from the indiscretions of youthful ardor and inexperience.
9. Thou shalt conduct thine own affairs in such a manner as to set an example worthy of imitation by thy children.
10. Thou shalt not permit thy children to bear arms except in the service of thy country.

NOTES on these changing times is one of our favorite reading spots in a little magazine coming to your desk. The squibs below from that department need further "circulation" in the Hamlin territory through this column:

Since the grass has begun to green, it is time to get out the lawn mower. Then you will have your chance to run things around the house.

Russia's military strength depends on missile production. Ours depends on who's testifying.

Contrary to the fears of alarmists, it's more and more a man's world. Now he's even taking over in the kitchen.

In days of yore, heaven protected the working girl. Nowadays it takes a union, a wage-hour law, unemployment compensation, social security, health insurance and a pension plan.

TIME AND AGAIN you and I have endured the master of ceremonies and presiding officers at dinners and banquets and other meetings. Invariably he will take up half the time allotted to the person who is scheduled of the banquet table.

Jack Herbert pens this little ode to the well known character to the banquet table:

The guy I would like to see win will deserved destruction is he who who introduces one "Who needs no introduction."

And remember, if you can manage to balance a budget, some day you may be able to budget a balance.

The Country Parson

"I suppose it is hard for a modern man to put money in the collection plate when all he has in his billfold is a bunch of credit cards."

NEW MEMBERS OF SCHOOL STAFF AT HAMLIN are the two young men above. On the left is Tim Jones, who has been named school band director to succeed Mac Fullerton, who resigned several weeks ago to move to Houston. The other newcomer to Hamlin is Leslie Fambrough, who was named social studies teacher and coach at Junior High School to succeed Harry Martin, who resigned to take up farming near Spur, his former home. Both will be on the job within a few weeks, according to Superintendent C. F. Cook.

Contract Awarded For Dial Phone Job

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has awarded a contract to Boyd J. McDaniel Company of Abilene for an addition to the telephone building at Hamlin. The announcement was made by Truman Black, manager of the telephone company.

Black said the work will begin in the near future on the new addition, which will measure 34 feet wide and 50 feet deep. It will be added to the south side of the present telephone building at Southwest Avenue A and First Street, he stated. Its face brick exterior will match the present building to retain the cottage look. The walls will be solid masonry construction, and the floor will be concrete slab. The roof on the front of the addition will be combination wood framing with asphalt shingles; and the back portion will be bar-joisted construction with a wood deck of built-up tar and gravel. There will be a new concrete landing at the entrance and also a new night depository.

City Council May Present Bond Plan To Finance Increased Water Storage

City of Hamlin's water reserve facilities are totally inadequate for a city of this size, declare members of the City Council, who are working toward providing greater reserves.

The situation, which continues to become more acute as the city grows and bigger demands are made on the water system, the councilmen explain. Water usage is increasing continually as homes

17 Primary Pupils Had Perfect Attendance

Seventeen pupils of the Hamlin Primary School had perfect attendance records during the entire school term that closed recently, according to tabulations of Mrs. Fred E. Smith, principal.

Second grade pupils who were neither absent nor tardy were Cindy Bryant, Tony Collins, John Charles Hix, Linda Sue Nichols, Sylvia Bailey, Patricia Elkins, Laura Lea Howard, Sandra Beth Payne and Sharon Kay Townley.

Third grade pupils who were neither absent nor tardy were Mary Alice Fry, James Knaebel, Randall George, Paul Long, Mary Linda McDuff, Jimmy Niedeken, Teresa Perrin and Diana Vaughan.

and industries find need for growing amounts of the necessary commodity.

Councilmen point out that the city's present water storage facilities provide reserve for less than the consumption of a peak day in the summertime. In case of a break in the big line to Stamford, for example, the city would get without water within a few hours. The city already is drawing a fire insurance penalty because of inadequate water reserve storage.

At the last two meetings of the City Council, reports on solutions to the problem were discussed. Facilities for storing some 1,000,000 gallons of treated water will require an expenditure of around $80,000, it was found. Other needed water facilities make the issuance of about $100,000 in bonds to finance the improvements advisable, say the councilmen.

Investigation by the council of the city's ability to finance the bonds reveals stable conditions in the financial structure, declare Mayor L. H. McBride and the councilmen. The business group probably will make formal presentation of such a plan within the next few weeks, McBride said.

Band Director and Junior High Coach Named by Board

Two new members were added to the faculty of Hamlin schools last week when members of the board of education named a new school band director and a coach for Junior High School.

Both the new men are replacements for teachers who resigned effective with the close of the 1958-59 school term.

Tim Jones was named director of the bands at Hamlin High School and Junior High School. He succeeds Mac Fullerton, director for the past two years, who resigned to go to Houston, where he will do class and band work at a university.

Jones, a native of West Texas, is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene. He had been band director last year at Throckmorton, and previously had been at Lorraine. He was scheduled to marry Sandra Jones of San Angelo in rites at the First Baptist Church at San Angelo Tuesday of this week. She has been teaching public school music at Kerrville the past year. They are members of the Baptist Church. They plan to attend summer school at H-SU before moving to Hamlin in August.

Leslie Fambrough was named teacher of social studies and coach at Hamlin Junior High School. He succeeds Harry Martin, who resigned to resume farming the home place of his family near Spur. Fambrough has been teaching the past year at Clyde. Mr. and Mrs. Fambrough have two sons of elementary school age. They plan to move to Hamlin within a few days. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Housewife Has Last Whiff with Skunk

Mrs. W. D. Mayo, housewife living southwest of Hamlin, had the last whiff in a tussle last week with a little striped stink-kitty.

While attending to her chores about the farmstead she ran onto the skunk, and she rose to attack. She stopped the stinker with a rock, despite the gas defense he put up.

Then Mrs. Mayo finished off the marauder with a stick.

Appreciation Day Chest Will Hold $310 for Saturday

Attendants at the regular Appreciation Day drawing Saturday will see a winner picked from the crowd whose coupon will be worth a percentage of the treasure chest of $310, it is announced by promoters of the trade extension project.

Due to last Saturday being a legal holiday for most stores in Hamlin, the weekly drawing was postponed. However, the "pot" grew with the weekly addition of money from the 49 participating merchants in the Appreciation Day program.

The drawing of a coupon from the ticket basket, as usual, will be staged at the corner by the bank on Southwest Third Street at 4:00 o'clock p. m. Coupons issued by participating merchants before 3:45 p. m. and deposited in the various coupon boxes will be used in the drawing, it is announced. Persons whose name is on the ticket drawn must be present to win.

Three additional consolation awards will be given to the second, third and fourth coupons drawn whose owners are present by City Cafe, McMahon Jewelry Company and Frank's Department Store.

Fourteen Enrolled in Summer School Unit

Fourteen students of junior high school and high school are enrolled in summer school classes that got underway last week at the high school building, according to B. V. Newberry, high school principal, who is teaching courses to make up failures of the students the past school term.

Classes are being held each morning from 7:30 till 11:30, and will continue for six weeks, Newberry says.

Yield Turning Out Better Than Was Anticipated

Wheat harvest in the Hamlin territory is about two-thirds completed, a survey of farmers, harvesters and grain buyers this week indicated. And the yield is averaging from 12 to 15 bushels per acre, which is considerably better than was anticipated several weeks ago following drought conditions during the fruiting period.

Local buyers said the quality is good, most of it weighing 60 pounds to the bushel.

The wheat acreage to be harvested in the county is estimated at around 40,000 acres, County Agent Kirby Clayton said. Some of the wheat is being grazed and will not be combined.

The grain has been testing good with the moisture content running from 13 to 14 per cent, and expected to become less as harvest progresses and humidity declines, Clayton said.

The prevailing price for this year's wheat is $1.75 per bushel.

Combines went to work in the territory two weeks ago, and more of them have hit the trail since. A good many of them are commercial harvesters and they will be moving northward as the crop matures. Some of them will go clear through to the Canadian border.

There will be some oats later in the season, but harvesting of oats will be limited, Clayton said.

Golfers of Hamlin Share in Stamford Tourney Awards

Hamlin golfers did very well in the annual invitation golf tournament at Stamford Saturday and Sunday.

Five players took awards. One was runner-up in the consolation of the championship flight, two won their flights' championships and two others took runner-up honors in their flights.

Holly Pardue Toler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Holly Toler and who has been a student the past year at Southern Methodist University at Dallas, was runner-up of the consolation play in the championship and was awarded a dozen golf balls.

Dr. M. L. Smith won the third flight and Wilson Brannon took the fourth flight honors, each winning a set of woods.

Bill Harbert was runner-up in the third flight, and was awarded a set of woods.

Jimmy Shivers, a high school boy, was runner-up in the fifth flight, but could not accept the prize in deference to interscholastic league regulations.

Other Hamlin golfers playing in the Stamford tournament were George Poe, Earl Shiff, Mark Smith, Austin Poe (now of Kerrville), Joe League and S. C. Ferguson Jr.

EASY CREDIT PLANS OFTEN ARE MORE COSTLY

New and easier ways to use credit are growing so fast that you should be more careful than ever buying this way, warn the editors of Changing Times. Repayment can be as routine as paying the light bill, but the cost is high.

Merchants stimulate shoppers' impulses by playing up revolving credit plans, using the budget-repayment idea. Some stores even allow charges up to $40 for teen-agers who have the parents' okay.

Bank loans are another variation of the budget-credit plans. Banks offer a "line of credit" to approved customers, who can then borrow up to the limit and repay in budgeted monthly amounts.

Central charge accounts are being pushed by both merchants and banks. In some areas community charge plans offer one single credit card good in a large number of stores. In others, banks offer an equivalent service, except all bills and payments are funneled through the banks.

And, of course, there are the multitudes of credit cards.

Warn the editors: No credit comes free (except short term 30-day accounts).

You pay an average of one and one-half per cent service charge on unpaid balances in revolving credit accounts and about one per cent per month on the unpaid balance on banks' line of credit.

You pay $5 to $6 a year for a credit card. The places that honor it pay an average seven per cent commission on their total billings to the credit card company, and this charge may be partially or fully passed on to you.

Central charge operators impose a five per cent to seven per cent charge on merchants' total billings, and the merchant may boost his prices to absorb the cost.

If you are going to use credit, you should know the real cost. The one and one-half per cent per month on your revolving charge account can run as high as 18 per cent a year if you keep buying up to the limit.

The one per cent bank loan charge is about 12 per cent per year on whatever average yearly balance you maintain.

How then, do you resist easy credit and stay solvent? Use credit only if you must—for purchasing such major items as cars, furniture and appliances or to take advantage of low prices when you don't have ready cash.

Otherwise, stay ahead by paying cash or by sticking to the short term charge accounts that require no premium for the privilege of using them.

Discarding the Bad

A famous sculptor once said that there is nothing to his art except cutting away the marble he doesn't want. That might sound easier than it really is but—that's exactly the way it's done.

Why don't we practice that method in the art of living? Why can't we develop the skill of discarding the things we don't want in character?

The skillful sculptor is not afraid that his marble when finished will not express his cherished idea. It's already there in the crude marble. His study and practice have taught him how to chip away the right pieces, the irregular and meaningless ones that have no part in the symmetrical lines and beauty of his model.

We needn't doubt that underneath the sham and artificialities and selfishness that we often express, there really is the measure of the person we'd like to be. The daily round gives us plenty of chance to knock off little chips of discourtesy, unkindness, neglect as no part of our real selves.

In proportion as we knock off chunks of selfishness and impatience—the things we do not want (if we really don't), the form of a better self, in others as well as ourselves, will gradually appear and finally—the "measure of the stature of the fullness" of the man or woman we'd like to be. It's already there!

Nuggets of Thought

He who has health has hope, and he who has hope has everything.—Indian Proverb.

Most people would succeed in small things if they were not troubled with great ambitions.—Longfellow.

Think wrongly, if you please, but in all cases think for yourself.—Lessing.

As is a tale, so is life, not how long it is, but how good it is, is what matters.—Seneca.

Let us believe neither half of the good that people tell us of ourselves, nor half of the evil they say of others.—Pettit.

I would rather be criticized for good work than applauded for poor work.—Espinosa.

Love is an ocean of emotions entirely surrounded by expenses.—Dewar.

The feeble tremble before opinion, the foolish dally it, the wise judge it the skillful direct it.—Roland.

It is difficult to divest one's self of vanity, because it is impossible to divest one's self of self-love.—Horace Walpole.

Living Costs Will Hold

Prices of every-day necessities will settle down for the next six to nine months, predict the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine. There may be mild increases in the price of hi-fi, shoes and plumbing equipment, but reductions in such important areas as foods and textile items will keep living costs in check.

Borrowing money, however, is going to be another story. It will get tougher. The screws are being tightened to contract the money supply available for lending as an anti-inflationary move. You will feel the effects should you shop for a mortgage or attempt to finance a car. Prospective borrowers might as well face it—they will have trouble finding money and more trouble getting a loan at an interest rate within their expectations.

Editorial of the Week

THE GIFT OF AGE

One of the joys of growing older is that you meet yourself coming back.

Things that happened in your childhood come back with a vividness that is astonishing. This, we take it, is what is called "second childhood." You can recall names, faces, incidents, scenes and everything under the sun, some of which you hadn't thought of in years.

It is much more fun if you have a clear conscience, and thanks to a merciful Providence, we tend to put unpleasant things out of mind and recall only the pleasant ones.

Some people claim they can recall incidents reaching all the way back to two years of age, or even less, but not many people can make that claim honestly.

But we can recall when we wore dresses, which boys in our own age group often did as children growing up. Nobody thought anything about it at the time, little boys and girls wore dresses, so what?

Little boys also wore curls down to their shoulders, but along about age four or five they rebelled. Many a motherly tear was shed when Dad took Junior to the back porch, wrapped a dishcloth around his neck and shoulders, got out the sheep shears and gave his head a good going over.

That was the first memorable, joyous occasion in a small boy's life. The next was when he was allowed to put off short pants and put on long trousers, if you except his first pair of brass-tied shoes.—Abilene Reporter-News.

More Than 10,000 Texans Will Be Used In Taking Two Forthcoming Censuses

More than 10,000 Texans will be needed to count fellow Texans and their property in two approaching censuses.

The agricultural census, taken every five years, is scheduled for next fall. It determines the farm population, and such data as the size of farms and how many cows and horses and sheep and tractors are owned by each farmer.

The regular population census, taken every 10 years, starts next April 1. It also will show the kind of housing Texas folk have, how many sleep to a room and what kind of conveniences they enjoy or lack.

The farm census will require 2,000 enumerators in Texas. They will work under 134 crew leaders, who will get their directions from six field assistants to the census bureau's regional director in Dallas.

The population and housing census will require 8,500 enumerators working under 525 crew leaders. These crew leaders will take orders from 21 supervisors who will answer to the Dallas regional director, James W. Stroud. Some of the population census workers probably will have worked on the farm census.

A census bureau spokesman said the enumerators will be paid on a "piece basis" so that a diligent worker should earn $12 to $13 per day. Crew leaders will be paid about $15.50 per day, supervisors and field assistants about $24 daily. Exact amounts are yet to be determined.

Farm census workers must have a car at their command and will get seven cents a mile for its use.

The enumerators in the farm census are expected to be busy two to three weeks; crew leaders will work a week or so more; and field assistants still a little longer. Population census enumerators will be busy three to five weeks.

All the workers except Stroud, a career employee of the bureau, will be appointed by Census Director Robert W. Burgess.

Practically speaking, however, the jobs will be filled by the Republican party organization in Texas. It's the same for each state and already many party leaders at local levels are beginning to line up the headcounters. Appointment of the farm census workers will take place late in the summer.

Poisoned Oats Is More Effective in Rabbit Campaign

Reports on the recent rabbit poisoning campaigns in Jones County reveal that the new bait which consists of strychnine treated oats has proven more successful than the poisoned maize, according to County Agent Kirby Clayton.

The poisoned oats were put out in a series of eight demonstrations over the county and reports from the farmers keep coming in that they are slaying the rabbits with the new strychnine bait preparation.

Clayton says that 1,000 pounds more of the bait has been ordered and will be available for use by farmers this week.

Young cotton is emerging all over the county, and rabbit damage is expected to be rather extensive in Jones County. County Agent Clayton urges farmers to make use of the poison where they have a damaging infestation of rabbits.

The bait should be put out on mounds of fresh dirt about three inches high and 15 to 18 inches across along the rabbit trails or in the area where the rabbits are feeding. One to two tablepoons of the treated grain per mound is enough for several rabbits.

DIFFICULT QUESTION.

A very fussy office manager was giving instructions to a young salesman regarding his trip. He gave him explicit detailed orders charting out minute by minute the young man's every action.

"You'll leave on the train at 7:00 a. m. and you'll reach your destination about 9:00 a. m. Have a cup of coffee at the terminal and take a taxi over to see Blank & Blank. I want to hear from you if there are any slip-ups. Remember—wire me if there is any difficulty of any kind at all, understand?"

About 9:30 that morning he received this telegram: "No cream at the terminal—what shall I do?"

Cardinals Lose First But Hold to Tie For Top in Little League Averages

The Cardinals got bounced in the Little League baseball play last week, but managed to retain a tie for first place with the Braves who had a perfect week following the third week of play in the four-team loop. The Giants held their third place position in the standings by winning one and losing one, and the Yankees stayed in the cellar with two more losses.

Four games were reeled off last week, but there was still no place to work in an extra tilt to get things back on schedule from the games that were postponed previously on account of weather.

Standings after last week's games looked like this:

Teams	P.	W.	L.	Pct.

The Cardinals tasted their first defeat of the season last Monday night when the Braves tripped the league leaders 3 to 2, scoring all their runs in the fourth inning. With two men out B. McClung hit a single to get on, advanced on a passed ball then scored when M. Shivers belted a single. L. Cronk followed with a hit to score Shivers, and D. Embrey singled. Cronk scored when J. Hill singled. The Cardinals scored once in the fourth and again in the sixth. First run came when A. Cumbie singled, advanced on a hit by J. McCurdy and stole home. In the sixth, Jimmy Inzer walked, advanced on a single by McCurdy and tallied on a single by Hester.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By Tex Easley, AP Washington Correspondent

Washington. — Representative Omar Burleson of Anson is concerned about what American scientists and military men will do when they land on some distant planet, assuming that they do get there. Especially if a Russian is already on hand to welcome them.

The legislator, who holds a high place on the house foreign affairs committee, is chairman of a subcommittee dealing with the relationship of scientific developments to foreign policy.

"This matter of sovereignty or jurisdiction in outer space may have practical significance sooner than we think," said the quiet speaking, friendly Texan. "Questions which seemed fantastic a short time ago now begin to make some sense."

A lawyer and a former FBI agent, Burleson, through his subcommittee, is directing a study on relations of earth men of different nationalities when they meet in outer space. As the opening witness of the subcommittee's study he called the State Department's top scientific advisor, Dr. Wallace R. Brode. Accompanying Brode was Loftus Becker, the department's legal advisor.

Becker discussed such questions as the making of territorial claims on the moon and the ownership of a satellite that returns to earth in a country other than the one in which it was launched.

"That's the sort of thing we are looking into," Burleson said. "Once the subject arose regarding the oceans, and nations got together and agreed there should be freedom of the high seas. Outer space is different, however, because it goes on to infinity where oceans are fixed and of limited dimensions."

One of the objectives of his committee, Burleson added, is to make itself an official body to which scientists may come for discussions to impart their idea of what this government should do in regard to international relations and, on the other hand, to learn more about this government's diplomatic policies.

"We don't intend to make diplomats out of the scientists," he said, "but we would give them an awareness of the general policy of our government. They would have this in mind when they participate in international scientific parleys."

Burleson said some top American scientists, including Dr. Stanley Livingstone of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, had told him they found Russian scientists forthright, cooperative and honest at a recent conference in Canada. And he said he was told that, while the Russians avoided politics, they were obviously aware of the "party line" set by the Soviet government.

Around the Capitol:
Speaking of scientists, Texas Tech's dean of engineering, John R. Bradford, has been here for talks with the Atomic Energy Commission.

He was laying groundwork for Tech's atomic reactor at the Lubbock school. The reactor is wanted for use in the training of nuclear science students.

While here Bradford had lunch at the capitol with Representative George Mahon of the Lubbock district and Mrs. Mahon.

Elmore Torn of Taylor, who once waged a successful campaign to publicize black-eyed peas in Washington, is now trying to get the one-cent postal card brought back. From a hospital bed in Taylor, where he was recovering from a fractured foot bone, he wrote Postmaster General Summerfield urging revival of the one-cent card. Torn suggested that a requirement that postal cards be hand-written would eliminate a lot of commercialization of the cards.

"When we are spending billions of dollars in foreign aid, and millions in furthering the people-to-people programs in our relations to our international neighbors," he said, "I do not think it amiss to allow a cost of some hundreds of thousands to make a person-to-person communication vehicle available to our own nationals."

BREAK OF DAWN.
"We had a beautiful sunrise this morning," said one debutante to another. "Did you see it?"

"Sunrise?" asked the other. "Why, I'm always in bed before sunrise."

Jay Implement Company Bought By W. A. Hawkins

Announcement was made first of the week of the purchase by W. A. Hawkins of the Jay Implement Company. The transaction was effective June 1, and Hawkins already is in charge of the business.

The purchase includes the agencies for International Harvester Company tractors and implements, Pontiac automobiles and the parts and service departments of these two agencies. It does not include the building owned by Eddie Jay, but the new concern, to be known as Hawkins Motor Company, will continue to occupy the building on East Lake Drive, built by Jay in 1947 to house the concern.

Gena Witt, parts manager, and Fred Vaughan and Albert West of the service department will remain with the new concern, Hawkins told a Herald representative. Mrs. Helen Johnson, bookkeeper for the concern for several years, will go with Jay, who will continue to operate his cotton warehouses at Hamlin.

Jay, who has owned the business for some 12 years, will continue to live at Hamlin. He has large farm interests here and in Arizona.

Young Hawkins has been connected for five years with Baroid Oil Company, having been stationed for the past two years in Venezuela.

National Test Results On Junior High Pupils Ready for Inspection

Principal M. D. Carlton announced that the national test results for students of Hamlin Junior High School have been returned and may be examined by parents and children.

The Junior high school office will be open Thursday and Friday mornings. Parents are invited to visit the office and study the results of their children's tests. Junior high students are asked to accompany their parents.

The tests are in the fields of mathematics, science, social studies, reading and writing, and school and college ability test. Results for each pupil are given by the pupil's score on each test and the percentile band in which the score places the student. The norms used are national norms.

Hamlin is one of the very few schools in the area to participate in this testing program under the state testing program. The tests are to help schools identify students of outstanding ability and aid in training these students to their maximum capabilities, Carlton explains.

New Methods of Marking Doing Less Damage to Patterns in Home Sewing

A newer marking method which does less damage to your pattern is now preferred to using tailor tacks for transferring dart markings from a pattern to material.

The method, which consists of a straight pin and tailor's chalk combination, includes marking the material after you have cut out the pattern piece but before removing the tissue patterns from it.

Place one pin at the point of the dart, putting the pin in and out of the double material once only. The head of the pin should be close to the pattern marking, and the point in the same direction as the point end of the dart.

Next, place pins about one and one-half to two inches apart on both sides of the dart. Keep these pin points toward the pointed end of the dart.

After transferring all necessary markings on any one pattern part, you can remove the tissue pattern. Merely push the head of the pin through the pattern and slip the tissue off the pin point. The pins remain in the material and you can now mark the darts.

If you have cut the pattern with the right sides of the material together, use tailor's chalk to mark a line along the pins. Then take out the pins.

If the wrong sides of the material are together, you may still use tailor's chalk to mark the dart on the wrong side. Leave the dart pins in the material, but spread the two pattern parts and with tailor's chalk mark the line where the fabric is pinned together.

After marking, remove the pins and you are ready to sew the dart. Match the chalk markings and pin with points in the direction of the wide part of the dart. Remember to sew from the wide end to the point. You may backstitch an inch or so for reinforcement, or you may tie knots at the point of the dart seam.

June is Dairy Month, and milk production is at its seasonal high. So milk and other dairy products are featured on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's June list of plentiful foods for this area.

The listing involves only five other food items. Eggs, broilers, fryers and consumer size turkeys are included, as are spring vegetables and vegetable fats and oils.

This list of foods, in heavier-than-normal supply, is furnished by USDA's southwest food distribution division at Dallas, on the basis of national and local availability. Menu planners usually will be ahead by making heavy use of foods on this list.

Suggestions on Right Kind of Hems Help Dressmaker to Become Expert

The wrong kind of hem or one that is not put in correctly can spoil the fit of your new dress or casual skirt.

A straight dress or skirt needs a hem from two and one-half to three inches wide. One which is wider will look too bulky, while a narrower hem will appear sort of skimpy.

The straight of the material turned up must follow the straight of the material it covers for a good finished appearance. This is comparatively easy on a sheath dress or skirt, but is a bit harder to manage with a gored skirt.

For a gored skirt, little tucks can be taken at intervals to keep the straight threads matching. Or sometimes it is best to run a thread at the top of the hem, then draw it up to fit. If you are using tape at the top of the hem, these tucks or gathers should be put in before applying the tape to the skirt fabric.

Tape always should be used on dresses or skirt which are to go to the dry cleaner. If the garment is to be washed often, most tape will not hold up, and it is better to turn under the edge of the hem and stitch it securely.

A garment with a widely flared skirt may need a narrow hem of the "shirt-tail" variety, or one about one to one and one-half inches wide, depending on the width of the skirt and the weight of the fabric.

The wider the skirt the narrower the hem is a good rule to follow with heavier material.

CHEVY BESTS

Independent experts and official facts and figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways.

BEST BRAKES... In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NAS-CAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. BEST TRADE-IN... Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE... Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling..." It's the only car of the leading low-priced three that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY... No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM... Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.† make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST

ENGINE... Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE... You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: "...the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin.—Whether or how the state's tax problem is met now depends largely on the Senate.

Members of the House, apparently eager to "get the monkey off their backs," passed out most of the program recommended by Governor Price Daniel.

Biggest milestone was House passage by a 71 to 56 majority of the governor's "package bill." As finally passed, it would raise about $150,000,000 in two years—only about $10,000,000 short of the governor's goal.

Included in the "package" would be an increased levy on natural gas, a new franchise tax on interstate corporations and bigger taxes on tobacco, liquor, automobiles, utilities, etc.

Some members bitterly criticized the bill as dangerous to Texas' industrial future and a product of the labor-liberal lobby. But most seemed to agree that it is "the only way to avoid a general sales tax or income tax."

Senators showed no apparent desire to set a speed record on the first money-raising bills sent them by the House. Bookkeeping bill, designed to raise part of the big $65,000,000 deficit by changing the accounting procedure, was sent for an attorney general's opinion on its constitutionality.

A bill to increase the corporation franchise tax for one year only—also to ease the deficit—was set aside. Better to wait for the whole program, the senators decided, than to work at it "piece meal."

Senate did take one step forward, however, when Senator Crawford Martin of Hillsboro introduced the abandoned property bill which had bogged down in the House taxation committee.

Stitch-and-Cut Team.—Ten lawmakers—five from the House, five from the Senate—have the difficult task of making one package out of the different spending bills passed by the two houses.

Senator William S. Fly of Victoria and Representative Bill Heatly of Paducah head the group. House-passed appropriation bill is more than $20,000,000 larger than the Senate's. Conference committee's task will be to cut a little off here, tack a little on there until an acceptable compromise is reached.

In past sessions, this piecing-together process has taken several weeks. Even on a day-and-night schedule, this committee will be hard-pressed to finish its job before the present session ends in mid-June.

More than different spending ideas separate House and Senate. Each house used the bill to express its ideas on how the State Board of Insurance should operate.

ate. House says full-time; Senate, part-time. Unyielding views have been expressed on each side.

Other members of the committee are Senators Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford, Ray Roberts of McKinney, Crawford Martin of Hillsboro and Wardlow Lane of Center. Representatives John Huebner of Bay City, Truett Latimer of Abilene, B. H. Dewey of Bryan and Jesse Osborn of Mulshoe.

Election Changes Urged.—Study leading toward a complete revision of the Texas election code is the goal of a House-passed resolution.

Representative Harold Parish of Taft is sponsor. If passed by the Senate, the resolution would provide for a 15-member committee to draft recommendations for the 1961 legislative session.

Making up the study panel would be three House members, three senators, the attorney general, the manager of the Texas Election Bureau, three persons named by the governor and four persons named by the national committee members of the Republican and Democratic parties.

All One Job.—Two House committees—taxation and appropriations—would be merged under a resolution proposed by Representative Truett Latimer of Abilene.

One committee of 31, called the House ways and means committee, would replace the two 21-member groups.

Latimer declared that, since money raised and money spent have to come out about even, it would be more logical to have the decisions made jointly rather than separately.

Farm-Market Road Change.—State's pressing money shortage may bring about a change in the favored budget position farm-to-market roads have had for the past 10 years.

Since the Colson-Briscoe act was passed in 1949, the general revenue fund has been automatically nicked for $15,000,000 a year for F-M roads. Goal was to build 35,000 miles of all-weather rural roads.

Representative Richard Slack of Pecos has introduced a bill to take F-M road spending out of the state highway funds rather than from general revenue. It would not cut farm road spending, but would reduce the money available to the State Highway Department for state highways.

Senator Neville Colson of Navasota, co-author of the 1949 act, opposes any alteration in the program. Even though more than 29,000 miles have been paved, she said there are still school bus and mail routes that are not "out of the mud."

Farm Bureau opposes, as well as others who say that it will lead to an increase in gasoline taxes to make up the cut in highway funds.

Those favoring the change argue that the farm road program has had creamy spending for a long time, but that with general revenue going $65,000,000 in debt, it can no longer be afforded.

Not Yet DOT Decides.—Democrats of Texas threw a lot of brickbats at U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson at their Austin convention, but stopped short of an open drive against his nomination for president.

State AFL-CIO President Jerry Holleman headed off resolutions saying "this is not the time." DOT did agree to change its name to the Democrats of Texas Clubs (DOTC). It had been frequently criticized for having a name that could be confused with the official Texas Democrat party organization.

Despite their official "wait and see" attitude about presidential nominees, the delegates made their sentiments clear. They cheered when Adlai Stevenson's name was mentioned and applauded criticism of recent legislation designed to help U. S. Senator Johnson.

New Fire Insurance Rates to Offer Savings

New fire and extended coverage insurance rates estimated to save Texas policy holders more than $6,000,000 a year were announced from Austin a few days ago.

The estimate came from Penn Jackson, chairman of the state Board of Insurance. It approved the revised schedules after a long series of hearings.

Details of the new rates will be made public this week by local agents. They will apply to insurance policies effective on and after July 1, 1939.

Many Girls from Area Will Attend Camp at Lueders

Reservations have been received from 119 campers for Camp Odaiko, official Camp Fire Girls camp, which will be held at Lueders Baptist Encampment grounds, June 7 through June 12. Mrs. W. C. Taylor, camp director, announced this week. The number includes a big delegation from Hamlin.

Camp will open Sunday and will close on Friday after supper, which starts at 6:00 p. m. Parents may make reservations for supper with the girls that night, but the usual program will not be held. Mrs. Taylor said. Dr. Tony Selman is camp chairman.

Staff members announced by Mrs. Taylor are: Mrs. W. P. Trice of Haskell, Haskell County school nurse, as camp nurse; Mrs. John M. Bennett, swimming; Mrs. Norris Russell, handicraft; Mrs. J. Ray Johnson, outdoor craft; Ly-

First Wheat for Nation from Area Nets $2.10 Bushel

Hamlin area's—and the nation's—first wheat of the 1959 season brought $2.10 a bushel, delivered at Galveston for export, five cents a bushel over the going market.

This was the report from Fort Worth last week after the first car of new wheat shipped from Hamlin by F. B. Moore Grain Company to Goodpasture Grain & Milling Company moved. It went by Santa Fe Railway to Fort Worth.

Louis Hecker, manager of the Goodpasture firm, said the wheat was sold immediately to Bob Armstrong of the C-G-F Grain Company, one of the nation's largest storage and trading firms.

The car of grain from Hamlin graded out as No. 1 dark hard, 61.8 test, 14 per cent moisture. Protein rating was not learned.

F. B. Moore Grain Company, which has scored as one of the earliest wheat shippers to Fort Worth in past years, said the wheat was grown by a group of Jones and Fisher County farmers.

The local wheat was 10 days earlier than the 1958 crop's first car.

Tax Returns Show Income of Taxpayers in North Texas Rising

According to the amount of income tax we pay, our economy in the northern half of Texas is growing at the rate of four per cent per year, notes Tax Man Sam in a release to The Herald. Most of us wish that our own personal economy would grow much faster.

One way to make it grow faster is to read your instructions and save on your tax dollars. If you want the government to have the money, you can loan Uncle Sam the money you save on your taxes by buying U. S. savings bonds and drawing interest off of Uncle to help our personal economy grow.

At any rate, it always is a good idea to know more about the taxes on your business. It always saves money and, even if you find you owe more, you save trouble with the tax men.

Man Behind Wheel Is Chief Cause of Traffic Accidents

What causes traffic accidents? Bad weather? Brake failure? Fatigue?

None of these in themselves, according to the National Safety Council. The No. 1 cause of traffic accidents, it says, is the man behind the wheel.

That's clear from recent council studies which show that violations for every 100 drivers in fatal traffic accidents. Many drivers violate more than one law.

The violations that occurred most often: Speeding, failure to keep right of the center line, not having right-of-way and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Other violations: Following too closely, improper passing, improper turning, failing to signal, disregarding stop signs, and improper parking.

"Modern cars and specially designed super-highways are fine, of course," the council said. "But the key to the traffic accident problem lies with the driver himself."

O. H. Weaver Jr. and Gloria Jenkins Named To Student Council

As one of the final acts of the faculty at the closing of the term of Hamlin Junior High School, O. H. Weaver Jr. and Gloria Jenkins were selected to represent the 1959-60 freshman class on the Hamlin High School Student Council, according to Marvin D. Carlton, junior high principal.

Both students received honor certificates at the junior high school graduation exercises. O. H. participated in junior high football, basketball and track. He also served on the planning committee for the junior high banquet. He was president of his home room S-B, and was also in the class play.

Gloria has completed four years in the Hamlin schools. She is a member of the Camp Fire Girls, and was in the 8-A class play.

A major factor in being selected for this honor is good citizenship, Carlton explains.

O. H. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Weaver Sr., and Gloria is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jenkins.

NEWCOMERS TO HHS STUDENT COUNCIL—O. H. Weaver Jr. (left) and Gloria Jenkins, recent graduates of Hamlin Junior High School, have been named by the junior high faculty to represent the 1959-60 freshman class on the Hamlin High School Student Council. Both received honor certificates in the graduation exercises, and have been active in school and extra curricular activities at school.

Congressman Omar Burleson Explains His Opposition to Foreign Aid Bills

The sub-committee for review of the mutual security programs (commonly known as foreign aid), of which I am a member, has issued an interim report revealing startling mismanagement on both the part of our own government and governments we are supposed to be helping, declares Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson in his weekly news letter to The Herald. The release continues:

Since soon after the end of the so-called Marshall plan, I have been voting against foreign aid. My position is not that of an isolationist by any means. Rather, it is because of the scope and operation of programs launched in over-ambition.

The report of our committee will show that the executive department has come to Congress year after year with a system known as "illustrative programs." This simply means that they have certain things can be accomplished in certain foreign nations by the appropriation of a certain number of dollars. After the money is appropriated, they then send the experts to the countries to be aided for the purpose of planning projects to fit the money.

It seemingly becomes the duty of the "experts" to figure out projects which will cost the amount of money appropriated. In many instances the Congress has appropriated too much money, and projects are over-planned. Obviously it results in a waste of the taxpayers' money, as well as placing a burden on the economy of the country to be benefited. Our sub-committee has found that in numerous instances officials of certain foreign countries were not interested in carrying forward the proposals of our own government, but as is often the case in our own country, evidently they felt that they would take whatever they could get, and as much of it as possible.

As an example of some of the things found by our committee, funds were appropriated in 1952, with additional amounts being appropriated in succeeding years, for a sawmill in Pakistan which has not yet been started and, in fact, the engineering is incomplete. The sum of $611,500 has been obligated for the purpose. There is still no proof that it is a practical operation.

Many expenditures around the world have been made under pressure of "doing something." In many instances "doing something" has been worse than "doing nothing." We have tried to "do something" to stem the tide against Communist influence, but we have now become a sort of victim of blackmail by many countries. They tell us that, unless we continue to pour out our dollars, they may yield to Communist influence. This is becoming an old story.

There is need for world cooperation against the influence of Soviet Russia. We cannot sit still and assume that all people around the world are going to love us, but on the other hand we cannot buy their loyalty and respect. Our failure, in my considered opinion, results in our not understanding the needs and aspirations of other people as well as failing to have them understand us. This cannot be accomplished by dollars alone and, in fact, in some instances it has been our handicap.

By our foreign aid we have created jealousies among nations. By our lavishness we have created a feeling of obligation on the part of many nations, which is never conducive to friendship and understanding.

All our efforts in this respect have not been failures. There are visible successes, and strangely enough, some of the greatest successes have been in those places

Thrips Infestation Already Reported In Cotton of Area

Thrips infestations have increased somewhat in many areas of the state, including some in the Hamlin territory, according to the weekly insect condition report of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the plant pest control division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Excerpts from the weekly report sent to The Herald are given below:

Most of the damage by thrips ranges from light to medium with some heavy infestations in the north central area. Fleahopper activity has increased in many areas, especially in the lower valley, coastal bend and upper coastal areas. Over-wintered boll weevils were reported to have increased in numbers in the fields of the north central area. Cotton aphids, were reported to be a problem in some sections of the coastal bend and upper coastal areas. Cutworm infestations were reported in the south central and north central areas.

J. O. Amerson Named To Hereford Group

J. Olin Amerson of Hamlin this week was named to membership in the American Hereford Association the world's largest purebred registry organization, with headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri.

One hundred and eighty-seven Hereford breeders were placed on the association's official roster during April. The association maintains active accounts for more than 80,000 breeders of registered Herefords over the nation.

The Hereford association during the last fiscal year recorded 453,632 pure-bred calves. The year's total recordings were the seventh highest on record, and more than 223,000 above the combined registrations of other major beef breeds, a release to The Herald declares.

where our expenditures were most modest.

Before going to Ethiopia in 1949, Dr. Andrew J. Barnett, a great agriculturist and conservation advocate, told the Congress he did not want hundreds of millions of dollars—not even millions—but only a modest amount with three or four well qualified and dedicated young men. He went to Ethiopia and accomplished more in 14 months with an expenditure of a few thousand dollars than has been accomplished in many countries during the last 10 years. If his untimely death had not occurred in an airplane accident, he would have proved the correctness of his approach in other places.

The president has just submitted his request to Congress for a total of $3,900,000,000 for foreign aid for the coming fiscal year.

THE HANGMAN MAKES A DEAL—Robert Taylor, in the title role of Paramount's suspenseful outdoor drama, "The Hangman," playing Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week at the Ferguson Theatre, talks Tina Louise into a tough spot in this scene from the unusual film which co-stars Fess Parker and Jack Lord.

U. S. Senator Johnson Explains Strong Support of Kennedy-Ervin Labor Bill

A lot of you have asked why I voted for the Kennedy-Ervin labor bill, and I thought this might be a good time to answer that question, declares U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson in his weekly news letter to The Herald. The release continues:

The bill was approved in the Senate by a vote of 90 to one. Let's look at a few of the many good reasons for this overwhelming support. For instance, as approved by the Senate, this bill:

Sets up strong bars against persons convicted of serious crimes from serving as union officials.

Spells out the fact that union members have a right to know what is going on in their union. Requires the unions to make available to each member—and lay open to public inspection—full financial and administrative reports.

Guarantees, as safeguards in the conduct of union elections: A secret ballot; written notice of all elections to each member and opportunity to nominate opposing candidates.

Further, this law would prohibit picketing for extortion or to obtain employer pay-offs—and provides as a penalty not only a heavy fine but up to 20 years in prison.

I believe this bill will mark a major step in throwing out hoodlums and racketeers.

It closes a "no man's land" in labor-management relations by authorizing state agencies to assume control over labor cases in which the National Labor Relations Board does not take jurisdiction.

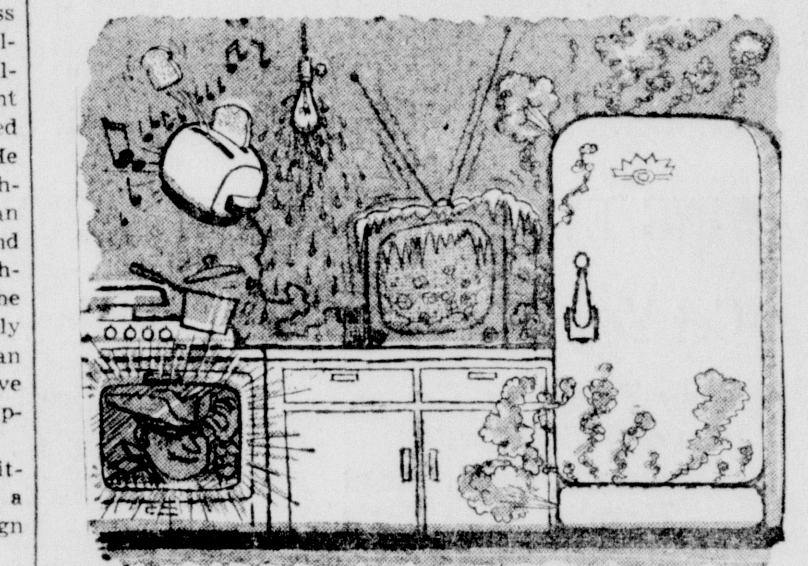

The law spells out a "bill of rights" for union members. Certain fundamental rights are guaranteed by the law—and where a member is denied any of these rights, he can go into court and ask that justice be done.

Don't Get Your Wires Crossed!

Here are the facts...

1. The Electric Cooperatives of Texas are a tax paying — business managed — partnership.
2. The money to build the cooperatives was a loan and the interest and the principal are being paid back.
3. For every $1.00 spent on Co-Op lines an estimated $6.00 has been spent by members for electrical appliances, thus the Cooperatives have created and are still creating a multi-billion dollar market for the merchants of Texas and the nation.
4. The Electric Cooperatives of Texas are owned and operated by the people they serve... free enterprise in its purest form.

Don't get your wires crossed. If it had not been for the Electric Cooperatives of Texas, many farms and ranches would still be dark. They transformed the rural community. They must continue to serve those areas they helped to develop.

Robert Taylor Fits Self to Movie Role For Picture Hits

One reason that Robert Taylor may still be at the top of the Hollywood heap, making nothing but money and hits, is that to him "the play's the thing" and not Robert Taylor. "The one thing I don't look for is Robert Taylor stories," the handsome actor says, "I fit myself to the part, not the part to me."

The formula has paid off handsomely for Taylor, who recently left M-G-M after a record of 24 years to strike out on his own. For his first film as a free-lance actor he selected Paramount's "The Hangman," which plays at the Ferguson Theatre Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. The picture stars him with Tina Louise, Fess Parker and Jack Lord.

"I chose it not for the money but for the story," he explains. "The emphasis is on characterization and it tells one of the best stories I've read in recent years—just the type of thing I'm looking for."

It is also the type of thing all entertainment seekers are looking for according to the critical acclaim it has already received.
